Chapter 1. Cúram Income Support Cash Assistance Program Guide

Cúram Income Support Cash Assistance provides eligibility determination for households that are based on financial and non-financial factors. Captured evidence is assessed against a set of business rules to determine whether the household is eligible for cash assistance.

Cúram Income Support Cash Assistance Program Guide overview

The Cúram Income Support Cash Assistance Program is a reference manual for business analysts and assumes that you are familiar with the concepts of Social Enterprise Management (SEM) and that you understand the organization's business requirements.

It provides an overview of the Cúram Income Support Cash Assistance Program. It contains details of the rules that are used in assessment for eligibility and entitlements for Cash Assistance.

It is intended as a reference manual for business analysts, and does not contain any technical information about how the rules are run or how to administer the rules. For information about setting up and maintaining rules in the product, see the Working with Cúram Express Rules related link.

The overview is intended for anyone that is interested in learning about the rules that the Cúram Income Support Cash Assistance Program uses..

Cash Assistance overview

The Cash Assistance Program provides Cash Assistance to needy families with dependent children.

Under Cúram Income Support Cash Assistance, individuals are entitled to a maximum of 60 months of benefits within their lifetime and there is a component that requires clients to attempt to find employment. Unmarried minor parents have to live with a responsible adult or guardian unless good cause is established. Paternity of children must be established in order to receive benefits. The program aims to get people off the temporary assistance, primarily by getting them into jobs.

Cash Assistance provides eligibility determination for households based on financial and non-financial factors. The information that is required to determine program eligibility is captured as evidence. Assistance unit determination overview

The Cúram Income Support Cash Assistance program rules determine all potentially eligible assistance units in the household.

The assistance units are formed around the dependent child and will then include all individuals based on the mandatory household member rules and exceptions. The assistance unit also includes an unborn child for a pregnant household member in their last trimester of pregnancy.

Household composition

The household composition rule group determines the mandatory and optional household members in an assistance unit.

If a household member is determined as an optional member, the household member can be included in the assistance unit. An assistance unit is formed with and without the optional household member.

The following provides guidance on the household rules:

- Household composition rules are used to form the assistance unit and determine the household members that are included in the unit.
- The dependent child rules determine whether a child is considered a dependent child.
- Household determination rules determine the household members that are not included or excluded from the assistance unit.

Mandatory household member

The mandatory household member rules determine mandatory household members of an assistance unit for Cash Assistance.

Mandatory household member

The mandatory household member exception rules define when members who would normally be mandatory members are, in certain exceptions, optional members. These rules also define when other members of the household must be considered as mandatory members of a unit as a result of the inclusion of specific optional members in a unit.

The following household members, who live in the home, must be included for Cash Assistance coverage, their income and resources are counted and they are included in the household size:

1. Dependent child who meets the dependent child rules AND
2. Natural or adoptive parent or parents of the dependent child AND
3. Blood-related or adoptive siblings who satisfy the dependent child rules.

Minor parent

A minor parent and the minor parent's dependent minor child are eligible for Cash Assistance coverage. If the non-parent caretaker relative (NPCR) exceptions or the minor parent living with their parent or parents exceptions are satisfied, the minor parent and minor child form an assistance unit with and without the minor parent's parents. The assistance unit with the minor parent's parents also includes the minor parent's siblings if they satisfy the dependent child rules.

Note: A minor parent is a parent who is under 18, who is single, and has care of a minor child.

Non-parent caretaker relative (NPCR) or minor parent living with their parent or parents exception

4. The minor parent's parents or non-parent caretaker relative are not currently receiving Cash Assistance AND
5. The minor parent and the minor parent or parent's dependent child or dependent children must be included in the assistance unit AND
6. The parents or non-parent caretaker relative of the minor parent can be included (that is, a separate assistance unit can be formed including the parents or the NPCR of the minor parent) if they are otherwise eligible, and the minor parent satisfies the dependent child rules AND
7. If the parent or non-parent caretaker relative is included, siblings of the minor parent must also be included if they satisfy the dependent child rules.

Household size and financial unit

The following rules apply to the household size and financial unit:

1. If the minor parent's parents or non-parent caretaker relative are not included in the assistance unit for Cash Assistance, the minor parent's parents or non-parent caretaker relative's income or resources are deemed but they are not included in the household size OR
2. If the minor parent's parents or non-parent caretaker relative are included in the assistance unit for Cash Assistance, the household size and financial unit consists of the minor parent, the minor parent's parent or parents, the NPCR, the minor parent's dependent child or children and the minor parent's siblings.

Temporary absence

The temporary absence rule group determines whether a household member is absent from the household on a temporary or long-term basis.

A household member can be absent from the household and maintain eligibility for Cash Assistance if all other program requirements are satisfied provided there is a definite intent for the absent individual to return home.

The following rules apply to temporary absence:

1. A household member who is temporarily absent from the home for not more than <180> days but who intends to return is eligible for Cash Assistance OR
2. A household member who is temporarily absent from the home for more than <180> days is ineligible for Cash Assistance unless an exception applies.

Temporary absence exceptions

The temporary absence allowable period can be extended in two instances.

The temporary absence allowable period can be extended provided there is a definite intent for the return of the individual and one of the following apply:

1. The household member is being cared for in a hospital or other public or private institution to receive treatment for a mental or physical illness OR
2. The household member is receiving education or training.

1. Dependent children, other than their own children, for whom the caretaker relative has responsibility.
2. Only one non-parent caretaker relative where both of the child's parents are absent from the caretaker relative's home.

If the preceding household members are included in the assistance unit for Cash Assistance, their income and resources are counted and they are included in the household size.

Household composition special circumstances

The household composition rule group that relates to special circumstances determines the assistance unit for a pregnant woman in her last trimester with no dependent children other than her unborn child.

Pregnant woman

The household composition rule group that relates to special circumstances determines the assistance unit for a pregnant woman in her last trimester with no dependent children other than her unborn child. A pregnant woman in her last trimester is eligible for Cash Assistance where the unborn child is considered as a dependent child and there are no other dependent children in the household.

Household size and financial unit for pregnant woman

The following household size and financial unit rules apply for pregnant women:

1. If the spouse is not living in the home, the household size is one, and only the pregnant woman's income or resources are counted OR
2. If the spouse is living in the home, the household size is two, and the pregnant woman's income or resources and the spouse's income or resources are counted.

Dependent child

The dependent child rule group determines whether children in the household are dependent children.

For children in the household to be classed as dependent, the following criteria must be met:

1. A dependent child must be living in the home of a caretaker relative AND
2. A child must meet the age limit for a child rules AND
3. A child must be deprived of parental support and care.

3. Disabled persons and persons who are physically or mentally incapable of engaging in gainful employment OR
4. Individual aged 60 or older OR
5. Woman in her third trimester of pregnancy OR

12. Individual participating in a substance abuse or mental health treatment program OR

13. Individual who lives in a remote area that is defined as more than a 2-hour round trip from home to the office OR
14. Individual that is temporarily disabled OR
15. Individual caring for another household member OR
16. Individual lacking education and work skills OR
17. Individual lacking transportation.

Invalid resource transfer

If a household member performs an invalid resource transfer, the entire household is ineligible for Cash Assistance for a period.

Household members are not eligible for assistance until the expiry of the period of ineligibility or sanction. If household members apply prior to the expiry of the period of ineligibility, they are determined ineligible. The proceeding rules determine whether a resource transfer is invalid and how the period of ineligibility is calculated. On application, check whether a period of ineligibility exists for a household and that the period of ineligibility is not expired. If the period of ineligibility is expired, determine whether an invalid resource transfer exists. If the period of ineligibility is not expired, the household is ineligible.

Invalid resource transfer determination

For every asset transferred by any household member in the three months prior to application or any time during the certification period:

1. Determine whether the resource is countable or excluded.
2. For countable resources, determine whether an invalid resource transfer exception applies.
3. For transfers that are not allowed, determine the uncompensated value for each transfer.
4. When the uncompensated value is greater than 0, a period of ineligibility applies for each invalid resource transfer as calculated by the proceeding rules.

Invalid resource transfer exceptions

The following transfers do not affect eligibility for Cash Assistance:

- Resources that are transferred between members of the same household (including ineligible aliens or disqualified person whose resources are being considered available to the household).
- Resources that are transferred for reasons other than qualifying or attempting to qualify for Cash Assistance benefits between members of the same household (including ineligible aliens or disqualified person whose resources are being considered available to the household).

Calculate period of ineligibility

Use the following to calculate the period of ineligibility:

1. Determine the uncompensated value of the asset transfer.
2. Determine the maximum benefit amount for the household size.
3. Divide the uncompensated value by the maximum benefit amount for the household size.
4. Round the result down to the nearest whole number to determine the number of months of ineligibility.
5. The period of ineligibility is for the number of months that are determined in the previous step.

Child support enforcement

An individual must meet two conditions to comply with child support enforcement, unless good cause exists.

An individual must meet the following conditions to comply with child support enforcement:

1. An individual must assign all rights to support, including child support and spousal support AND

2. An individual must cooperate with (CSED) to obtain support unless good cause exists.

The following constitute good cause for non-compliance with child support enforcement:

1. Cooperation might result in physical or emotional harm to the child or caretaker relative OR
2. Legal proceedings for adoption of the child are pending before a court OR
3. The caretaker relative is being assisted by a public or licensed private social agency to resolve the issue for whether to keep the child or relinquish the child for adoption OR
4. The child was conceived as a result of incest or rape.

Deemed members of financial unit

If the household member falls into the category of sponsored alien, non-parent caretaker relative (NPCR), or minor parent, the household member might be deemed a member of the financial unit.

Sponsored alien

The household member is deemed a member of the financial unit if the following criteria applies:

1. The household member is an alien AND
2. The income and resources of an alien sponsor and the sponsor's spouse, if the sponsor's spouse lives with the sponsor, are deemed to an alien who is included in the assistance unit.

Non-parent caretaker relative (NPCR)

The household member is deemed a member of the financial unit if the following criteria apply:

1. The household member is an NPCR AND
2. The income and resources of the NPCR's spouse, if the spouse is living with the NPCR and is not included in the assistance unit, are deemed to the NPCR who is included in the assistance unit.

Minor parent

The household member is deemed a member of the financial unit if the following criteria apply:

1. The household member is a minor parent AND
2. The income and resources of a non-recipient parent or parents or NPCR of a minor parent are deemed to the minor parent.

Head of household determination

To determine eligibility for Cash Assistance, the eligible unit must have a head of household. Program rules determine the assistance units that exist within the household.

The case worker records the household's selected head of household for Cash Assistance. The household's selected head of household is assigned to the assistance unit in which the head of household is either:

- An eligible member of the assistance unit OR
- An excluded or non-household member OR
- An optionally excluded member.

The head of household can be ended and a new head of household added.

Program eligibility overview

To be eligible for Cash Assistance, an individual must not be considered a striker and must meet the Federal Time Limit.

Striker

Eligibility for Cash Assistance requires that an individual is not considered a striker, unless exempt. If an individual is considered a striker, the household might be ineligible for Cash Assistance.

The following are ineligible for Cash Assistance:

1. A parent on strike is ineligible unless exempt OR
2. A non-parent caretaker relative (NPCR) on strike is ineligible unless exempt OR
3. A caretaker relative on strike is ineligible unless exempt.

Exempt strikers

The following individuals are not considered strikers and are therefore eligible for Cash Assistance:

1. Employees unable to work as a result of striking employees OR
2. Employees who are not part of the bargaining unit on strike and who do not want to cross the picket line due to fear of personal injury or death OR
3. Employees that are affected by a lock out.

Parent on strike

The following Cash Assistance rules apply to parents on strike:

1. The household is ineligible for Cash Assistance for any month in which a natural or adoptive parent is, on the last day of that month, participating in a strike AND
2. The parent is not an NPCR to any children in the assistance unit.

Non-parent caretaker relative (NPCR) on strike

The following Cash Assistance rules apply to NPCRs on strike:

1. The individual is the NPCR of a child in the assistance unit AND
2. The individual is not a parent of any children in the assistance unit AND
3. The NPCR is participating in a strike on the last day of the month and only the NPCR is ineligible for Cash Assistance for that month and their income and resources are not counted and they are not included in the household size AND
4. Children for whom the individual is an NPCR are eligible on their own.

Caretaker relative on strike

The following Cash Assistance rules apply to caretaker relatives on strike:

1. The individual is the NPCR of a child in the assistance unit AND
2. The individual is also a parent of a child or children in the assistance unit AND
3. The individual is participating in a strike on the last day of the month AND
4. The caretaker relative and the caretaker relatives natural or adopted children are ineligible for Cash Assistance for that month and their income and resources are not counted and they are not included in the household size AND
5. Children for whom the caretaker relative is an NPCR are eligible on their own.

Federal Time Limit

Federal legislation imposes a lifetime limit of 60 months on the receipt of federally funded Cash Assistance for an adult or a minor parent (who is the head of household). Children are exempt from the Federal Time Limit.

For each household member for whom the Federal Time Limit applies, the system determines whether or not the limit is reached for the household member. If the limit is reached for a household member and no exemption or extension applies, then the entire assistance unit is ineligible for Cash Assistance. The system determines whether or not the month that is being paid for a specific household member for Cash Assistance is counted towards the time limit. When you are counting the limit, include out of state months.

If a household member has a valid exemption, they might receive Cash Assistance during this period and the months of assistance that is received are not counted towards the Federal Time Limit. If a household member has a valid extension, then the household might receive Cash Assistance and exceed the 60-month limit for the time the extension applies.

Note: A household in which any adult member, including a minor parent who is the head of household, received federally funded Cash Assistance for 60 countable months is ineligible for benefits unless an exemption or extension was granted.

Time limit exemptions

The months when a family receives assistance while the family is living in Indian country where at least 50 percent of the adults are not employed does not count in calculating the 60-month time limit. Under federal law, all states must disregard these months when they are calculating the time limit.

Time limit extensions

Families who meet specific criteria are eligible for a Cash Assistance extension.

Families who reach the 60-month time limit for Cash Assistance and who meet the following criteria are eligible for a Cash Assistance extension:

- Hardship, as defined by the state OR
- The family includes an individual that is subjected to domestic violence.

Alien sponsor

An alien sponsor is defined by four rules.

The following rules specify the definition of an alien sponsor and the sponsor deeming exceptions:

1. A person who signed an Affidavit of Support on behalf of an alien as a condition of the alien's entry or admission to the U.S. AND
2. The sponsor is not included in the assistance unit AND
3. The sponsor and the sponsor's spouse or the sponsor's spouse are financially responsible for the alien by deeming their income to the alien unless an exception is met AND
4. An alien can have more than one sponsor.

The deeming rules for sponsors use the preceding rules.

Sponsorship deeming exceptions

The alien sponsor deeming rules do not apply to certain aliens.

The following aliens are not subject to the alien sponsor deeming rules:

1. The alien is a refugee OR
2. The alien is a parolee OR

3. The alien is an asylee OR
 4. The alien is a Cuban entrant OR
 5. The alien is a Haitian entrant OR
 6. Lawful Permanent Residents (LPR) who adjusted from refugee or asylee status OR
 7. Lawful Permanent Residents (LPR) who entered the country before December 19, 1997 OR
 8. Lawful Permanent Residents (LPR) who applied for a visa or adjusted their status before December 19, 1997 OR
 9. Indigent Alien Exemption applies for 12 months from the month of determination OR
 10. The sponsored alien becomes a naturalized citizen OR
 11. The sponsored alien worked, or can be credited with, 40 qualifying quarters OR
 12. The alien's sponsor dies OR
 13. The sponsored alien leaves the U.S. permanently OR
 14. The sponsor signed an Affidavit of Support OR
 15. The battered alien spouse, alien parent of a battered child, or child of a battered alien, are exempt from deeming for 12 months and the batterer must not be part of the household OR
 16. The alien is a victim of severe forms of trafficking.
- Do not deem the income or resources of a sponsor if the alien belongs to any of the preceding categories.

Battered alien: first 12 months

For aliens who meet specific criteria, their income is not deemed for the first 12 months.

Do not deem income for the first 12 months for aliens who meet the following criteria:

- The battered alien must be battered by the battered alien's U.S. citizen or LPR alien spouse or parent AND is a refugee AND
- Either 1 or 2 of the following applies.
 1. If a parent is the battered alien, any child who lives with them is also a battered alien OR
 2. If a child is the battered alien, the parent who lives with them is also a battered alien where the parent did not actively participate in the battery AND
 3. There is a substantial connection between the battery and the need for benefits AND
 4. The individual subject to such battery or cruelty does not live in the same household with the individual responsible for the cruelty.

Battered alien: after 12 months

After 12 months, the alien continues to be exempt from sponsor deeming if two conditions are met.

After 12 months, the alien continues to be exempt from sponsor deeming if:

- The alien demonstrates that the battery or cruelty is recognized in an order of a judge or administrative law judge AND
- The local department determines that the abuse continues to have a connection to the need for benefits.

Cash Assistance calculations overview

Calculate Cash Assistance by using specific rules for resources, income, expenses, and benefit calculations.

Total countable resources include resources that are deemed to the household. The decision tables in the Cúram Express Rules Editor contain a list of countable resources. For more information, see the Decision

Table related link. If the household's resources exceed the resource limit, the household is ineligible for benefits.

Use income rules to determine the unearned, earned, and self-employment income that is countable or non-countable for the household. The decision tables in the Cúram Express Rules Editor contain a list of countable income. For more information, see the Decision Table related link. Gross income is countable unearned, earned, and self employment income. Total countable income includes income that is deemed to the household. The income rules also specify a net income limit that the household's net income cannot exceed. Net income is gross income minus allowable deductions or expenses.

Apply the benefit calculation, benefit reduction, and initial month proration rules to determine the benefit amount for the assistance unit.

Resource calculations

Use resource rules to determine countable and non-countable resources for the household.

Resources are classified as either countable or non-countable and liquid or non-liquid. Only countable resources are included in the resource eligibility determination. A household's countable resources must be less than a specified resource limit.

Resources that can readily be converted to cash are liquid resources. All other types of resources are non-liquid resources.

Note: The household's countable resources must be equal to or less than $2000.

For more information about resource calculations, see the Resource deeming and the Total countable resources related links.

Resource deeming

The individuals whose resources are deemed is determined as part of the household determination rules.

For every individual in the financial unit whose resources are deemed, perform the following steps:

1. If the individual is a sponsor, perform sponsor to alien deeming.
2. If the individual is a major parent who is not included in the assistance unit for Cash Assistance, perform parent to child deeming (major parent to minor parent).
3. If the individual is the spouse of an eligible non-parent caretaker relative (NPCR), perform spouse to spouse deeming.

Resource deeming exceptions

Resources from the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipient are not deemed.

Sponsor to alien deeming

When deeming resources, first apply the sponsor definition and the sponsor deeming exception rules for income deeming. For more information, see the Alien sponsor related link.

For each sponsor, use the following to determine the resources to be deemed to the alien:

- If the sponsor does not have a spouse who is living in the home:

- Calculate countable resources for the sponsor AND
- Subtract $1500 from the countable resources AND
- Deem the remainder to the alien.
- If the sponsor does have a spouse who is living in the home:
 - Calculate countable resources for the sponsor and the spouse AND
 - Subtract $1500 from the countable resources AND
 - Deem the remainder to the alien.

Parent to child deeming (major parent to minor parent)

1. Calculate countable resources for the parent or parents AND
2. Deem the ineligible parent's or parents' total countable resources to the eligible child.

Spouse to spouse deeming

1. Calculate countable resources for the ineligible spouse AND
2. Deem the ineligible spouse's total countable resources to the eligible individual.

For every individual in the financial unit whose resources are counted, perform the following steps:

1. Calculate the individual's countable resources AND
2. Add total deemed resources, if any, to the individual's total countable resources to determine the total countable resources AND
3. Add the individual's countable resources to other household member's countable resources to determine the household's total countable resources.

Income calculations

Use income rules to determine the unearned, earned, and self-employment income that is countable or non-countable for the household.

Only countable income is included in the income eligibility determination. Use the decision tables in the Cúram Express Editor to view a list of countable income. For more information, see the Decision Table related link. A household's countable income must be less than a specified income limit.

1. The household's monthly gross countable income is equal or less than 185% of the monthly Standard Needs Budget for the household size AND
2. The household's monthly net countable income is equal to or less than the 100% of the monthly Standard Needs Budget for the household size

The following are the steps to undertake when you are determining the total countable gross and net income for Cash Assistance:

Gross income calculations

With the financial unit that is previously determined in the household composition rules for Cash Assistance, execute six steps for the gross income test.

Gross countable income

For every individual in the financial unit whose income is counted, perform the following steps:

1. Calculate individual's countable gross unearned income from all sources.
2. Add deemable income, if any, to the individual's unearned income.
3. Add the individual's countable gross unearned income to other household member's countable gross unearned income.
4. Calculate the individual's countable gross earned income from all sources, including income from self-employment.
5. Add the individual's countable gross earned income to other household member's countable gross earned income.
6. Combine the household's total gross unearned income and the total gross earned income to determine the household's total gross income.

Income deeming

The individual whose income is deemed is determined as part of the household determination rules.

For every individual in the financial unit whose income is deemed, perform the following steps:

1. Total the deemor's countable gross unearned income from all sources.
2. Total the deemor's countable gross earned income from all sources, including income from self-employment.
3. If the individual is a sponsor, execute the sponsor to alien deeming OR
4. If the individual is a major parent who is not included in the assistance unit for Cash Assistance, execute the parent to child deeming (major parent to minor parent) OR
5. If the individual is the spouse of an eligible non-parent caretaker relative, execute the spouse to spouse deeming.

Income deeming exceptions

Income of the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipient is never deemed to any other individual. This rule applies to all the income of the SSI recipient, not just the SSI amount.

Sponsor to alien deeming

When deeming income, apply the sponsor definition and the sponsor deeming exception rules. For more information, see the Alien sponsor related link and the Sponsorship deeming exceptions related link.

If the sponsorship deeming exceptions do not apply, perform the following:

1. For each sponsor, determine the amount of money to be deemed to the alien.
2. From the sponsor's and the spouse's live-in-spouse, if any, countable earned income:
 - a. Deduct the $100 work allowance AND
 - b. Add the gross countable unearned income AND
 - c. Subtract an amount equal to 100% Standard of Need for the number of ineligible individuals, living in the sponsor's home AND
 - d. The remaining amount, if any, is deemed as unearned income to the alien.

Parent to child deeming

From the major parent's or parents' gross countable earned income, execute the following:

1. Deduct up to $100 work allowance from the gross countable earned income of each major parent AND
2. Add the countable unearned income for each major parent AND
3. Subtract an amount equal to 100% Standard of Need for the number of ineligible individuals who are living in the home, including the major parents but excluding the minor parent AND
4. Subtract any child support or alimony that is paid by each major parent to individuals not living in the home AND
5. The remaining amount, if any, is deemed as unearned income to the minor parent.

Spouse to spouse deeming

From the spouse's gross countable earned income, perform the following:

1. Deduct the $100 work allowance AND
2. Add the countable unearned income AND
3. Subtract an amount equal to 100% Standard of Need for the number of ineligible individuals who are living in the home, excluding the eligible spouse, AND
4. Subtract any additional amounts that the spouse pays to persons not living in the home, but who are, or who could be, claimed as dependents for federal income tax purposes AND
5. Subtract any child support or alimony that is paid by the spouse to individuals not living in the home AND
6. The remaining amount, if any, is deemed as unearned income to the spouse.

The alien sponsor deeming rules do not apply to certain aliens.

Net income calculations

Execute the net income steps only if the household's countable gross income is less than or equal to 185% of the monthly standard needs budget for the household size.

Income deductions

Apply deductions for every individual in the financial unit whose income is counted. For each employed or self-employed individual in the household, apply disregards in the following order:

1. Deduct the $100 work expense allowance:
 - Deduct up to $100 per month from the employed or self-employed persons earned income.
2. Work incentive deduction:
 - Disregard 50% of the employed or self-employed individual's remaining monthly earned income.
3. Dependent care deduction:
 - Deduct the monthly amount that is paid for the care of each dependent child or incapacitated adult up to the maximum that is defined based on age of dependent and hours of work if:
 - The child or incapacitated adult is an eligible member of the assistance unit AND
 - The actual cost of child care is not reimbursed AND
 - The care is necessary for employment.

For each individual's remaining total income, that is, any earned plus any unearned income, apply the following disregard:

- Court-ordered child support payments:
 - The individual who is legally obligated to pay child support is eligible to deduct the amount of child support that is paid to someone outside the home.

Net countable income

- Add the individual's total countable net income to other household member's countable net income after deductions. This figure is the household's total net income.

The household's monthly net countable income is equal to or less than the 100% of the monthly standard needs budget for the household size.

Benefit calculation

Use three steps to determine the household's benefit amount for Cash Assistance.

Perform the following steps to determine the household's benefit amount for Cash Assistance:

1. Use the household's monthly net countable income as previously determined by the net income test.
2. Subtract the household's monthly net countable income from the maximum cash assistance amount for the household size AND
3. The balance that remains is the Cash Assistance benefit amount.

Benefit reductions

Depending on a household member's sanctions, the assistance unit's benefit amount is either reduced by 25% or 50%.

25% benefit reduction

In any of the following circumstances, the assistance unit's benefit amount is reduced by 25%:

- The member has a current first sanction for child support enforcement non-compliance OR
- The member has a current first sanction for work requirements violation.

50% benefit reduction

In any of the following circumstances, the assistance unit's benefit amount is reduced by 50%:

- The member has a current second sanction for child support enforcement non-compliance OR
- The member has a current second sanction for work requirements violation.

Initial month proration

Use four steps to determine the household's Cash Assistance benefit amount for the initial month of eligibility.

Perform the following steps to determine the household's Cash Assistance benefit amount for the initial month of eligibility:

1. A household's benefit for the initial month of certification is based on the day of the month the household applies for benefits.
2. Using the exact number of days in a month, the household receives benefits that are prorated from the day of application to the end of the month.
3. Round down the prorated benefit amount to the nearest whole dollar.
4. If the prorated allotment is less than $10.00, no benefits are issued for the initial month.

Sanctions assessment

The sanction assessment process is separate to Cash Assistance eligibility determination. The sanction assessment determines whether an individual might be subject to a sanction and, if so, the penalty to impose.

The sanctions are not created automatically. Instead, caseworkers manually create the sanctions.

The sanction assessment information is highlighted to the caseworker if the individual or individuals fail the sanction assessment. If a sanction assessment failure occurs, the caseworker must decide the action to take. The caseworker might choose to sanction or override the sanction for the individual or individuals. The sanction assessment information displays the reason the individual or individuals might be subject to a sanction and the appropriate penalty to impose.

Individuals who are sanctioned are generally ineligible for assistance. In some circumstances, a sanction that is imposed on an individual member of a household might make the entire household unit ineligible. In other circumstances, a sanction might result in a reduction in benefit for the entire household unit.

The penalty that can be imposed as a result of failure of program requirements depends on a number of factors. The factors include:

- Whether previous sanctions were imposed in respect of this requirement failure.
- The level of the sanction that was previously imposed.

Individuals can be subject to a sanction if they fail to comply with the following requirements.

The sanctions assessment process runs on reassessment and determines whether any eligible members of the unit failed any of the proceeding program rules.

- Child support enforcement
- Immunization
- Minor parent living arrangement
- Minor parent school non-attendance
- School attendance - dependent child
- Voluntary quit
- Work registration
- Intentional Program Violation
- Fleeing felon
- Parole violation
- Fraudulent information
- Drug-related felony

Sanctions can be imposed as a result of failure to comply with of any of the preceding program rules.

Child support enforcement

Depending on the level of the child support enforcement sanction imposed on an individual, one of three penalties can be imposed.

For information about child support enforcement rules, see the Assistance unit determination overview related link.

Penalties for child support enforcement sanctions

Depending on the level of the child support enforcement sanction imposed on an individual, the following penalties can be imposed:

1. The household receives a 25% reduction in payment for 1 month if no previous sanctions were imposed for this, for this member.
2. The household receives a 50% reduction in payment for 1 month if a previous level 1 child support enforcement sanction exists for this member.
3. The household's case is closed for a minimum of 1 month if a previous level 2 (or higher) child support enforcement sanction exists for this member.
